Speeder British Wasp Sights the Big

for Position as Balloon Attempts to Escape—Aeroplane Turned Topsy-
Turvy After the Explosion.

London, June 7.—For the first time
on record a Zeppelin in the air has been destroyed by an aviator in an aeroplane. A Canadian, a young Canadian sub-lieutenant in the royal navy, performed the feat
and tonight is somewhere within the British lines while the Zeppelin lies in ruins on the roof and ground of an orphey near Ghent.

The Zeppelin, which was flying low
over the English coast last night
for the first time since it was over Belgium, was seen by a Canadian
sub-lieutenant in the royal navy
who was flying a biplane. The aeroplane was seen by the Zeppelin
and the latter began to rise. The aeroplane then fired at the Zeppelin
and the latter was seen to be burning and falling. The aeroplane
then landed and the Zeppelin was seen to be in flames. The aeroplane then flew away and the Zeppelin was seen to be in flames.

Without parallel in this war or any

Canadian sub-lieutenant has told

Probe Shows Irregularities in the Annapolis Exams

Annapolis, Md., June 7.—That there was reason to believe that attempts
had been made to enter the desks of
the heads of at least four naval academy departments and secure examination questions in advance was the testimony given today by Rear Admiral Fulham, superintendent of the academy, before the naval court of inquiry appointed by Secretary Daniels to investigate charges of irregularities in examinations. It is the belief of the authorities, however, that
only one attempt had been successful. This was in the case of the department of modern languages.

Testimony read from the record of the preliminary investigation showed that the examination papers for the first, second, third and fourth classes
in Spanish were stolen and following
there was a general dissemination
from the hands of the friends of Mid-

shipman James Moss of the third class
of "good dock" for all of these classes.
Six members of the graduating class who on last Friday received
their diplomas and became ensigns
were ordered recalled. The record publicly developed that two of the seven men recalled, most seriously
involved by the disclosures had not been recommended for dismissal by the board. These were T. W. Harrison Jr., Virginia, and D. E. Duncan, Michigan, whose resignations, however, were asked for.

West Point Cadets Reviewed.

West Point, N. Y., June 7.—The cadet battalion under Lieut. F. Smith
was reviewed by Col. C. P. Townsley and his staff today. In the evening a hop for the graduating class held in Cullum hall. Old graduates
are beginning to arrive for the class
reunions this week.

RAINS CONTINUE IN NORTHWEST TEXAS

BREAK IN DALLAS-FORT WORTH
GAS MAINS NOT RE-PAIRED.

Fort Worth, June 7.—Rains continued to fall north and west of here
today. The break in the main supplying the city with gas could not be reached by workmen today and this city and Dallas still are without gas.
Five feet of water is still pouring
over the gas mains which supply Fort Worth and Dallas with fuel and light.
Large forces of men have been assembled by the Lone Star Gas company ready to repair the breaks as soon as the floods subside. Coffers dam are being built around the breaks. Gas officials will not venture
an opinion as to when the mains will
be repaired.

Train service to Northwest Texas
still is crippled.

At Wichita Falls cutting of railway
embankments near the city met with little success in relieving the flood conditions. Red river is higher than in ten years and sixty-seven miles of Katy track extending on each side of
the ground, and in some sections under water. A bridge over the Little Wichita was washed out today carrying away several hundred feet of track.

At Jermyn a tornado accompanied by heavy rain and hail caused damage
and washed out three-quarters of a mile of track on the Gulf, Texas and Western.

Damage in Northwest Texas.

Wichita Falls, June 7.—Continuous
rains for nearly a week have almost destroyed grain and other crops
throughout this section and demoralized railway traffic until today. Wichita Falls is cut off from railway communication. Hail and high winds have added to the crop damage, the grain, almost ready to harvest, being described as literally beaten into
the ground, and in some sections under water. It was impossible today to make an accurate estimate of the total loss, some persons claiming it would run as high as a million dollars to crops within a radius of a hundred miles.

Damage from wind also was reported from the oil fields at Electra, Burk Burnett and Petrolia, while other sections reported barns unroofed
and silos blown over. The Fort Worth and Denver railway sheds here were demolished in last night's windstorm
and a number of other buildings damaged. The negro section here was under water today, with the water
creeping up to within a few blocks of the business section.

West of here washout of railroad
and country bridges also were reported, Vernon being cut off from railroad connection while southwest of here temperatures have dropped nearly forty degrees, San Angelo and Snyder
reporting the temperatures of about fifty degrees early today.

The rainfall in this section yesterday and last night was estimated at
three and a half inches and all streams
were reported bank full or overflowing. For thirty miles up the Big Wichita river the lowlands planted
mostly in wheat and oats were said to be under water. The river here beginning to overflow here and it is believed the valley will be inundated
from here to the Red river.

Officials of the Fort Worth and Denver railroad this afternoon gave consent to dynamiting the railroad
embankment leading to Holiday creek near here, in order to save hundreds
of acres of lowlands above the bridge
being inundated. The railroad tracks
cross the lowlands on a high embankment with a short rise spanning the creek. The embankment acted as a dam for the flood waters, the opening
under the bridge being small. Men left here shortly after noon to destroy the embankment. It was reported the rush of waters would carry away the bridge.

Windstorm at Winona.

Winona, June 7.—A considerable
windstorm yesterday destroyed a large portion of the west side of Winona,
doing several thousands dollars damage to residences, outhouses, barns
and fences. The wind was a straight wind from the west and lasted for some eight or ten minutes.

The first damage was done at the fine home of O. S. Kay, situated on his farm just three-fourths of a mile from town, blowing a bedroom and the kitchen and dining room down, completely demolishing them and their contents, but no one was hurt, although a negro cabin close by was blown down close by in which a part of the negroes were pinned under a part of the falling walls and had to wait until after the storm for help to come and cut the fallen timbers of the house off them before they could get out.

H. A. Warren's house was blown off
the foundation and badly damaged,
while at M. C. Lawrence's place several outouses were completely torn
to pieces, breaking a buggy and wagon to pieces.

Several other small buildings were blown off their foundations and farms
and crops were badly damaged by
heavy rain which followed the storm.

Chamber Commerce Annual Meeting to Be Held Tonight

Members of the Chamber of Commerce
will be guests of the directors at a dinner in the State House tonight, marking
the annual meeting of the membership
of the organization. Allan D. Sanford
is toastmaster. Dr. S. P. Brooks of Baylor university and Congressman R. L.
Henry will be among the prominent citizens of Waco who will address the diners.
Both Dr. Brooks and Congressman Henry
will speak on favorite themes. Dr.
Brooks on "War and Business" and Congressman Henry on Brazos navigation.
Other prominent citizens will have congenial subjects.

The annual report to the members of President J. J. Powers and Secretary
E. F. Drake is now being prepared and will be ready for presentation at the meeting tonight. Twenty-five directors
will be elected, these to meet later to elect officers.

Arrangements for the dinner have been in charge of H. M. Baine, J. M. Pen-
land and F. E. McClary, who have arranged the following program of toasts:
"The Conception and Birth of This Business Organization," Dr. W. B. Morrison.
"The Cotton Palace, Waco's Greatest Asset," Asher Sanger, president Texas
Cotton Palace association.

GERMANS SWEEPING TOWARD RUSSIA'S WESTERN FRONTIER

IF THEY HAVE TRANSFERRED TROOPS FROM THE EAST TO
THE WEST THEY STILL HAVE SUFFICIENT MEN TO CONTINUE THEIR MIGHTY OFFENSIVE.

ARE 18 MILES EAST PRZEMYSL

Encircling Movement on Lemberg Is Duplicating That at City Just Recaptured—Active North and East of Lemberg—Air Raids Are Arousing Great Britain.

London, June 7.—If the Germans
have transferred troops from the east
to the west as reported, they have held sufficient men on the eastern frontier to continue without relaxation the offensive that has carried
them eastward to within sixty miles
of the Russian frontier.

The forces which pinched Przemyśl
into surrender are battering their way
eastward and according to both German and Austrian official communications, are at one point in the southeast hardly more than sixty miles
from the Russian frontier. The troops which swept through Stry have continued further east until they are 30
miles beyond that town and equally beyond Lemberg, the position of which appears perilous.

Further north they are 18 miles to the east of Przemyśl. So that roughly speaking the encircling movement
on Lemberg is duplicating that at Przemyśl.

The Germans also are on the offensive in the Baltic provinces. Their official statement records the crossing of the river Windau to the southeast of Libau.

A Petrograd dispatch received in London tonight says:
"Telegrams from Riga report the Germans active to the northeast and east of Libau. The military authorities expect heavy fighting at Mostseik, where the Russians will make a desperate stand."

Hard fighting and heavy losses on both sides, notably north of Arras,
where the French seem determined to nibble their way forward, continue in the west, but the contests are hardly
more than trench warfare contrasted
with the fighting in Galicia.

The repeated Zeppelin raids on England have aroused British airmen to extraordinary vigorous action, a raid
on a Zeppelin shed near Brussels and the bringing down of a Zeppelin with its crew near Ghent being carried out
at about the same time. The British official account does not state whether
the hangar attacked held a Zeppelin,
but a message reaching London asserts it did.

Italy, since she has thrown her
troops in the field and unleashed her navy on the side of the allies, has been taken into the financial circle of the nations warring against Germany.
At a recent meeting of the British chancellor of the exchequer and the Italian minister of the treasury an agreement was reached to pool resources, just as Great Britain, Russia
and France had agreed.

King Constantine Is Slightly Improved

Washington, June 7.—A cablegram
dated at Athens today and received at
the Greek legation here tonight said:
"At noon today His Majesty's temperature was 37.5 degrees centigrade
(99.5 Fahrenheit)."

This was one of the most encouraging news heard by the legation since
the king became critically ill. Confidence was expressed by officials that since His Majesty's temperature had been reduced virtually to normal the crisis must have been passed.

BUDDHISTS UPRISE AGAINST MUSLIMS

RIOTS IN CEYLON IN WHICH THE MUSLIM SHOPS ARE LOOTED.

Murders Occur, According to Official
Reports to London,
England.

London, June 7.—That there has been a riotous outbreak in Ceylon by Buddhists against the Muslims in which numerous Muslim shops were looted and many murders occurred, is
told in an official communication,
made public tonight.

The official statement says:
"The governor of Ceylon reports
that on May 28, the birthday of Buddha, Muslim shops in Kandy were looted by Buddhists. The outbreak was quieted in Kandy, but was disseminated through the central province,
where it was repressed by the arrival
of a military detachment."

"On the 31st of May there was an outbreak at Colombo in which subsequently spread some 100 miles. The outbreak has been proclaimed in the western,
central, southern, northwestern and Sahara Gamuwa provinces."

"On June 3, the governor left Kan-
dy quietly and proceeded to Colombo,
where he found the town quiet but
the district disturbed. He hoped to suppress the disorder in a few days."

"The disorder is due to a sudden outbreak of racial and communal animosity and is not directed against the European population of the colonial government. Much Muslim merchandise has been destroyed. There have been numerous murders and several rioters were shot."

"The latest telegrams statements
are that the situation is in hand and improving."

Switching Tariff Won't be Granted by Commission

Austin, Tex., June 7.—The railroad commission today disposed finally of
three exhibits on grain and grain
products, on loading charges at port,
and on ice carloads, and partially hearing the exhibit on switching charges.

It is believed that the commission is indisposed to grant tariff to the carriers on switching charges, as such a
rate would be an innovation in Texas,
and seems to be without material precedent in any other state. Shippers
oppose switching charges more strenuously and concertedly than any other
item of the proposed advance.

No opposition among the shippers
appeared against the exhibits on ice
carloads and on loading charges at port. The exhibit on grain and grain products was disposed of at the opening of the afternoon session when
H. B. Dorsey of Fort Worth, secretary of the grain dealers' association,
appeared against the increase. He said that he did not believe that industries which are encouraged and
built by the railroads should be penalized. He contended that if an increase were made, however, it should be made on a horizontal basis.

Chairman Mayfield brought out the fact in cross-examination with Mr.
Dorsey that there never had been a
charge for switching in the state, although the justness was apparent for an extra charge for switching on a spur line to a gravel pit.

C. W. Payne, representing William Cameron & Co., denounced the proposed switching charges as discriminatory, confiscatory, based on the wrong
principle and unreasonable and excessive. He pointed out that the extra cost for the past year to his Waco
plant for switching charges would have been $2,212.

The entire morning session was consumed in discussing grain rates. H.
Dittlinger of New Braunfels who was opposed to the proposed tariff on that commodity testified that if any increase is made, that the burden should fall on shippers in long and short hauls
equally. J. A. Stafford, representing the Stock Yards company at Fort Worth, testified that if the rates are increased it would result in opening up a strong competitive field with Oklahoma; under the proposed tariff
Texas shippers would have to pay one-third of the value of the product in freight charges.

O. B. Acton, representing the Texas
Hay Makers' Association, testified that 90 per cent of the shipments of hay originated within a distance of 100
miles. He testified that the present rates are not disturbed and also that
no change be made in the common point territory. He went further and urged that rates on hay with-
in a radius of 100 miles of Houston
be reduced 33 1-3 per cent.

GENERAL VILLA ASKS PEACE CONFERENCE

WOULD ESTABLISH A NEUTRAL
TERRITORY AND MEET GEN-ERAL CARRANZA.

El Paso, Tex., June 7.—General
Francisco Villa has decided to ask General Venustiano Carranza to agree
to a neutral territory for a conference to consider the suggestions contained in President Wilson's note, according to a telegram received here
tonight from Colonel Perez Ruiz, private secretary to Villa. The telegram was dated Aguas Calientes.

"General Villa ordered his secretaries to come from Chihuahua to Aguas Calientes to draft the note to Carranza," says Colonel Ruiz, "and also the reply will be sent to President Wilson. Villa's ministers reached Aguas Calientes today."

The statement relates that Villa
decided to invite Carranza to agree to a truce "to prevent further sacrifice
in the republic which might produce intervention," that when Villa in keeping with this suggestion ordered his troops to retire General Obregon started
in pursuit, "bringing on a battle
in the station."

Gomez Urges Peace Conference.

San Antonio, Tex., June 7.—Dr. F.
Vasquez Gomez, minister of education
in the cabinet of President Francisco
De La Barra, candidate for vice president on the Madero ticket and personal friend of Generals Carranza and Villa, today wired the following appeal to Generals Carranza, Villa and Zapata, to cease fighting and send delegates to a peace conference. "For humanity and in order to save the country and the noble idea of the revolution, I propose that the immediate cessation of hostilities, the freedom of communication to keep the Mexican people from starvation, and
the naming of delegates to a peace
conference that would be honorable
and establish a government which
can unify the revolution and comply with its ideals. I have sent this telegram to Generals Carranza, Villa and Zapata."

"I cannot announce plans for further procedure until I have heard from the generals to whom I have sent the telegram. Though we may differ as to details for the betterment of the Mexican people the three generals are otherwise friendly to me. I anticipate receiving a favorable response from them. Until they reply I cannot give out anything further."

Dr. Gomez' action is considered, in view of the developments in Washington, to be in keeping with President
Wilson's desire for peace in Mexico.
The former minister has represented
his government in various capacities
at Washington and it is known
that he is in close touch with recent developments at the American capital.

Many Involved in Moonshine Cases at Ft. Smith, Arkansas

Washington, June 7.—Department of justice agents are seeking Knox Booth,
former internal revenue agent for the Alabama-Tennessee district, for whom
a warrant has been issued in connection
with alleged whiskey tax frauds through which the government is said to have lost about $100,000.

The warrant for Booth was issued after the arrest of John L. Casper, a Fort Smith, Ark., distiller, and was based on correspondence between Casper and Booth. The latter disappeared two weeks ago. Guy L. Hartman, an associate of Casper, and about a dozen other persons had been arrested at Fort Smith
previously in connection with the case.

The frauds charged involved the evasion of taxes on distilled spirits through collusion between distillers and lesser
government officers and similar to numerous cases which treasury officials
have uncovered and dealt with in the past.

Twenty-five Are Involved.

Fort Smith, Ark., June 7.—Twenty-five
persons are involved by government officers
here to be involved in the "moonshine"
case in connection with which Knox Booth, former internal revenue agent, is being sought by department of justice
agents. George A. Hartman, arrested
here several weeks ago, forfeited a bond
of $20,000 when his case was called for trial May 21 at Kansas City. Ten other

MUSICAL PROGRAMS FEATURE AT BAYLOR

RECITALS GIVEN BY FACULTY MEMBERS AND THIS YEAR'S GRADUATES.

Alumni Will Hold Sway Today—Annual Banquet at Huaco Club Tonight.

The classical music feature of the Baylor commencement program was given in the form of an organ recital by Rudolf Hoffmann, assisted by Anton Navratil, violinist, and John de Heck, tenor, in the Chapel last night. Twelve choice classics on the organ, violin and vocal constituted the program. Prof. Hoffmann is head of the fine arts department of Baylor, Mr. Navratil is instructor in violin in the department, and Mr. de Heck is instructor in vocal culture at Baylor. An especially large audience greeted the musicians.

Musical programs played a prominent part in yesterday's commencement events. Graduates in the fine arts department gave a recital in the chapel in the morning. An afternoon band concert on the campus was given by the Baylor band, under the direction of Charles Parker. Other events of the day were the reception to wearers of the university letter, which marked the revival of the Baylor "B" association. The annual recital of the four literary societies was held in the society halls and on the campus, beginning at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The program of the organ recital given last night by Prof. Hoffmann and soloists from the fine arts department was as follows:
Processional march Rodgers
Recitative and Aria "Comfort Ye" Handel
Allegretto Mendelssohn
Funeral march Guilmant
Siciliano, for violin Bach
Andante, for violin Gluck
Toccata, F major (pedal solo) Bach
"The 23d Psalm" Hoffmann
Andante con moto Hoffmann
Pastoral Hoffmann
Sonata, A major, for violin and piano Handel
Toccata, G major Dubois

A classical musical program by the graduates from the department of piano, violin and voice, and a reading by a graduate in expression began the schedule of events at the Baylor commencement yesterday. The numbers consisted mostly of graduation compositions in the graduation repertoire of the young women who will receive their fine arts diplomas Wednesday.

Miss Jeannette Allen of Cleburne is the only graduate of the year in expression, and Miss Stella Wolters of Shiner is the only graduate in violin. In addition to numbers given by these two young women the following graduates took part in the program: Misses Mary Edna Boothe, Freddie Gross, Mable Rowan, Hazel Parnell, Reba Voss, Cora Ivey, Louise Lawson, Reba Funk and Mattie Watson. Miss Sallie Keith of Waco gave two vocal selections, Miss Fern Thurman of Waco who was to have been the other vocalist on the program, was unable to appear on account of illness.

An informal reception to wearers of the Baylor "B" was held on the campus beginning at 11 o'clock yesterday morning. This marked the revival of a "B" organization that was in existence for many years under the name of Baylor "B" Association. The name of Baylor "B" club has been given to the new organization which will include the wearers of the journalistic and oratorical "B's" as well as the athletic letters.

The reception proved a delightful, informal affair. Light refreshments were served by the young women. It is proposed to make the reception an annual affair to be held on the Monday preceding the Wednesday commencement day. Hereafter the club may enjoy a banquet.

J. D. Isaacs of Cleveland, captain of the past season's football team, was elected president of the club. Richard H. Spencer of Waco, vice president, and Miss Genevieve Warren of Palestine, secretary. The purpose of the club is to line up all the winners of Baylor letters, get them back to commencement, promote athletic enthusiasm and strengthen the ties of fellowship.

Society enthusiasm, which has always been peculiarly marked in Baylor, ran high yesterday when the old members of the Epsilon Phi, Phi Kappa Phi, Chi Omega and Phi Gamma Delta theses and literary societies gathered in the halls of the various organizations to pay tribute to their societies. A full attendance of the old members, the four societies adjourned to the campus. Light refreshments were served and old and new members exchanged reminiscences.

Alumni Hold Sway Today.
Alumni activities will occupy a large part of today's program of the annual commencement at Baylor university.

At 9:30 o'clock this morning in the chapel of the Alumni Association will be held when officers will be elected for the new year, committees named and other business transacted. A full attendance of all local alumni and ex-students and visiting alumni and former students is requested. Oscar C. Payne of Dallas, associated editor of the Farm and Ranch and member of the class of 1902, will deliver the annual address before the association, his general topic being the part that commerce and women can play in rural betterment. Special music will intersperse the program of business.

From 5 to 6:30 o'clock this afternoon there will occur the annual reception by the local alumni to the members of the graduating class and visiting alumni and ex-students on the campus of the university. A large reception committee has been named by Miss Pauline Carrington, chairman of the committee on arrangements, refreshments will be served and a very pleasant hour is anticipated.

A cordial invitation to all friends of the university to participate in this function is extended.

Then the alumni functions will find their climax in the annual banquet that will be held at the Huaco club at 8 o'clock tonight. An exceptionally attractive menu and program have been prepared for the occasion and an enjoyable evening is guaranteed by the committee in charge. The speakers who will be limited to five minutes each, include Hon. Tom Neff of Waco, Hon. F. E. Johnson of Cleburne, Byrd E. White of Lancaster, Prof. George W. Harris of Gatesville, Dr. W. A. Hamlett of Austin, and Dr. K. H. Aynesworth of Waco. Each of the speakers has a live topic.

On the musical program that will be carried out during the dinner will appear Misses Beulah Duncan, Stella Lear, Fern Thurman and Will Payne as vocal soloists; Miss Stella Wolters, pianist; Spark Durham, pianist, and a male quartet of local and visiting

BABY SEVERE RASH FROM HEAD TO FEET

Resembled Breaking Out From Heat. Burning and Itching. Very Irritating. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Entirely Well.

Luke, Md.—"My baby broke out with a severe rash from her head to her feet. It was very disfiguring. It resembled a breaking out from heat, and was burning and itching. It was very irritating to the little one and she could not rest or sleep but very little. I tried salve and ointment, two or three different kinds, without success. She obtained little relief until we used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. We used the Soap for her bath and anointed her well with the Ointment immediately after. A few applications proved sufficient to make her entirely well." (Signed) Mrs. Ellis Beamer, Sept. 3, 1914.

Druggist Stewart of Birmingham Tells of Remarkable Vitalitas Record.

"I have been in the retail drug business in Birmingham for the past ten years and I have the first time to hear of any remedy getting such a hold on the public as Vitalitas in this town," states Mr. C. A. Stewart, a widely known Birmingham druggist, whose home is 1609 10th Ave., South.

"You cannot turn around," he adds, "unless you hear some one praising Vitalitas, and what is more, I am selling a remedy that has merit and will do such a hold on the public in such a short time. I do not know of any remedy I would rather sell than Vitalitas, because you naturally want to recommend something that you have faith in yourself and I have faith in Vitalitas. When I sell a bottle of Vitalitas I feel that I am selling a remedy that has merit and will do the work. I personally know people who have been cured and benefited by its use. I think Vitalitas one of the greatest remedies on the market today and will push it whenever possible."

Not only has Vitalitas taken a strong hold upon the people of Birmingham, but upon those of every city and town throughout the south where it has been introduced. It is performing marvels in the cure of chronic disorders of stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels and blood.

Women Will Meet This Afternoon to Raise Nurse Money

A mass meeting of the women of the city has been called for 5 o'clock this afternoon at the Public library by Mrs. W. Woodson, president of the Federation of Missionary societies, and Mrs. E. M. Tolson, president of the Federation of Southern societies. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss and devise plans for raising money to continue the public health nurse in Waco during the coming summer.

Appeals for public subscriptions to pay the salary of Miss Laura Edwards, public health nurse, did not bring in enough to continue the work. The women of the two organizations are very desirous that the work be continued, and the mass meeting tonight was called so that something definite might be done to meet the situation.

Clay Street Baptist Revival to Begin on Sunday Night

Rev. Layton Maddox, pastor of the First Baptist church at Mineral Wells, will be the preacher for the revival of the Clay Street Baptist church, which begins Sunday. Rev. Y. M. B. L. TO HEAR WHY NO TRADE TRIPS AT MEETING TONIGHT

The Young Men's Business league will enter a fight against the general passenger agents of the Texas railroads, following failure of that effort to have restored the rates that have previously applied to one-day trade trips. A meeting of the directors of the league yesterday declared off all plans for trade trips during the present year after they had heard the reports of W. V. Crawford and John F. Wright, who went to Galveston last week to confer with the passenger agents.

Tonight the matter will be presented to the general meeting of the league, and some plan of action will be determined upon.

Dr. H. H. Hodges, city pure food inspector, will deliver an illustrated lecture on phases of civic sanitation and protection of the food supply. Dr. Hodges has recently been active in forcing vegetable and fruit merchants and vendors to screen their stocks against dust and flies, which has been very successful. Illustrations will depict many of the unhealthful practices in handling foods as well as methods of safeguarding the supply.

Regular standing committee reports of the activities of the league since the last general meeting will furnish interesting information and material for discussion. At the last meeting of the board of directors a committee was appointed to investigate the causes for the removal of St. Basil's college from the city and to ascertain what steps, if any, can be taken to induce the Canadian fathers to reconsider their intention of leaving Waco. This committee will probably have an interesting report.

The luncheon which has come to be a feature of the general meetings will be served following the business of the league.

Class Day Program at Sacred Heart to Be Given Tonight

With the annual reunion and business meeting of the alumnae, the commencement exercises of the Academy of the Sacred Heart began at 5:30 yesterday afternoon. Big Rise in Brazos but Not Enough to Cause Any Danger

Gauges on the Brazos here at 9:30 last night showed a stage of 20.5 feet, a rise since 7 o'clock yesterday morning of 12 feet. Last night the river was rising slowly. Considerable water was reported higher up, and River Observer A. E. Howell expected the gauges here to show 22 feet by morning.

Warning of flood stage in the river in Palo Pinto county and at Kopperi was received at 10 o'clock yesterday morning by Mr. Howell from Chief Observer Bunnemeyer at Houston.

ATTEND TODAY'S MEETING.

We hope there will be a large attendance upon the joint meeting of the City Federation of Women's Missionary Societies and the City Federation of Women's Clubs at the public library this afternoon for the consideration of the work of the public health nurse.

And while the task of supporting this worthy work should not be borne by the women alone, it is quite fitting that the women, who inaugurated and fostered the work in its earliest stages, along with the McLennan County Medical society, should come to its rescue now when it appears that the work can not achieve what was anticipated for it unless it is accorded a larger support by the people of the city at large. The women are better fitted by nature to appreciate the need for this work, as it is the women and children who suffer most for lack of a competent nurse, and it is they who will benefit most from the successful prosecution of the work of such a public servant.

There can be no more important, no more humane, no more deserving, no more religious work than that of saving the lives of our people. Money put into such a cause is not expended, it is invested, and the returns upon it will be larger and better than if it were put into stocks, bonds, or any other form of securities or property. For in addition to paying the salary of the nurse, funds are needed for the purchase of ice, milk, wholesome foods and some medicine for persons who can not afford these things that are absolutely essential to their recovery. The treasury of the United Charities will not permit the nurse to refer the cases to that organization, and she must either supply the necessities, find some one who will do so, or else there will be actual suffering.

The summer months are particularly trying upon infant life here, as elsewhere. And the heated period is hardly less severe upon older persons in lack of the proper nourishment and treatment. The women who have been fostering the work, the physicians who are members of the advisory committee, and others who have had opportunity to know the need for a public health nurse and the large results that have been accomplished in that capacity by Miss Edwards, are particularly anxious that the work shall be carried on throughout the summer and early fall without interruption. To make this possible there must be a larger subscription to the work. And for the laying of plans to secure this larger subscription this afternoon's joint meeting has been called. Every woman interested in the welfare of her poorer sisters in the city and that of the children in the homes of the poor should be on hand today and assist in formulating plans whereby the work of the nurse can be carried forward and made to accomplish the largest possible good.

"YOUNG JOHN D."

In something less than four years Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., will be too old to serve his country as a soldier, says the Kansas City Star.

But what difference does that make? He is still "young John D." He is still "the youngest Rockefeller." He is still "junior." Like the "boy preacher," and "the boy orator," Mr. Rockefeller never grows up. He is protected by a phrase.

So Mr. Walsh was put to a great disadvantage. Mr. Walsh was put in the position of "being rough" with a youth whose immaturity and inexperience should have protected him from a full grown man like Mr. Walsh!

"Young" Rockefeller has passed the age when, according to Doctor Osler, a man must have proved the stuff that is in him. He has had more experiences and more varied experiences in large affairs than most business men would if they lived to be 200 years old. Maybe after a while, say when he is too old for jury service and has store teeth and walks with crutches and hasn't any hair, his sympathetic press agents will forget that he is "young John D."

ORGANIZING THE FARM WOMEN.

In her work of organizing the farm women of Texas into "Bands of Good Neighbors," Mrs. Nat P. Jackson, member of the extension staff of the Agricultural and Mechanical College, is rendering one of the largest services of a public character now being performed in Texas. For years we have discussed the man on the farm and have been trying to help him reduce the burdens he has to bear, but the burden of the farm women is greater than that of the man and heretofore she has not had the assistance and the encouragement that has been given her husband.

Man's work on the farm usually ends when he has taken out his team for the day and watered and fed his live stock. Heavy work for him does not begin until after he has eaten breakfast. But the work of the woman on the farm begins an hour before breakfast and continues all the way from one to three hours after the supper is served at night. Her work in keeping house and preparing the food for the family is as great a tax upon her strength as that of tending the crop and gathering the harvest is upon that of the man. But in addition to this, the woman of the farm bears the burden of rearing the children, unassisted for the most part, and she frequently adds to these burdens that of assisting in making and gathering the crops.

The man of the farm nearly always takes Saturday afternoon off and frequently the whole day. He goes to town, mixes with the people, has an opportunity to absorb new ideas and suggestions from other parts of the county and gets a relaxation that is refreshing and helpful physically and in a mental way if he cares to make it so. He attends the meetings of the Farmers' Union, goes to the lodge, attends political speeches, the picnics and the like, takes advantage of a rainy day to go to town or visit his neighbors and is frequently diverting his body and mind from the daily grind of following the plow and wielding the hoe.

But no such diversions come to the average woman of the farm. She is fortunate if she gets to attend church on Sundays and then she does not obtain much rest on the Sabbath day, for there are the children to be dressed for the services, dinner to be cooked, dishes to be washed, and frequently a lot of company to entertain. She has abundant labor to perform seven days in the week but few of the labor-saving devices in the house to correspond with those which her husband has provided for the farm.

There are some wives of the well-to-do farmers who are provided with labor-saving devices, who have conveyances at their disposal and who can go to town at their pleasure, but they are the exceptions rather than the rule. But Mrs. Jackson, through the extension service of A. and M. college, is seeking to provide larger liberties and better privileges for the woman of the farm. She is organizing the women into clubs for the reading courses on conveniences for the farm home, sanitation, care of the sick, beautifying the home, domestic science and economy, arrangements being made for demonstrations along these lines from time to time.

The woman of the farm, like the woman everywhere, comes into more vital and influential relationship with the children than the man does, thereby wielding a much larger influence over the children than does the man. In view of this heavy responsibility, she should have the very largest opportunity for culture and development, for only as she grows can she expect to be the instrument of the development of her children and the family as a whole. It is true that the greatest men have come from the farm for the most part. There is no reason why still greater men may not come from that source if the mothers on the farm are given larger opportunities and thus equipped for doing a larger part by their sons and their daughters.

Women of the farm are alive to their needs. They are willing and ready to organize for their own culture and self-improvement in general. Mrs. Jackson is furnishing the medium through which this need can be supplied and we anticipate large results from her efforts.

"We now have berries and soft peaches, and the figs and watermelons and cantaloupes are yet to come. East Texas is a mighty fine summer resort country. The eats are plentiful and varied and the climate is all that can be desired," declares the Palestine Herald. Everything the Herald says about East Texas is true and a little more advertising of the splendid resources of that section will induce more capital and labor to locate there and aid in its still higher development.

There are some who regret that the sweet girl graduate, with her roseate conception of the world, and the June bride with the belief that her whole pathway through life is to be strewn with roses and orange blossoms, should ever be disillusioned, but the hothouse is no place for the development of character that counts and the highest happiness comes only in self-sacrifice and victory over obstacles.

By the publication of a story to the effect that steamboats were seen on the Colorado river at Austin in 1851, the San Marcos Times-Herald has started the papers of the state capital to talking about the navigation of that river. It looks like steamboats are extinct articles so far as Austin is concerned, but that city can possibly console itself with the fact that it still has a steam roller in good working order.

Court reform will occupy a big place in the next general state election, according to Senator Senter of Dallas. This is a good issue, all right, but the politicians may obscure it with some other fake remedies for the relief of the farmers. You can never tell.

BACKWARDNESS OF TEXAS.

The Houston Post is quite correct in the following declaration as to the development of this state:

"In his address before the development league, Mr. Clarence Ousley of the bureau of extension of the Agricultural and Mechanical College spoke of the backwardness of Texas. We are so accustomed to boasting of Texas and her progress that to many it may seem strange to hear one speak of backwardness as a Texas fault."

"But Mr. Ousley was right about it."

"Texas has been somewhat progressive compared with the Southern states that were crushed by the civil war, which Texas was not, but compared with many other states Texas is strictly a slow coach and in some respects it is not in as favorable a position as when it entered the union."

"For instance, when Texas began her career in the union, there was not a tenant farmer in the state, and now there are over 200,000 farms operated by tenants, and this fact is precipitating one of the greatest problems we have ever been called upon to solve."

"Texas came into the union before California did, and yet California has outdistanced in the matter of public education, it contains more taxable wealth, its two great cities are at present larger and finer than any Texas city is likely to be in thirty years. California had to convert an arid region into a garden spot and that has been done through the expenditure of hundreds of millions of dollars."

"Texas came into the union before the small state of Wisconsin was admitted. We would count ourselves wonderful, indeed, if we could within twenty-five years reach Wisconsin's agricultural excellence, and it would shame us to invite a comparison in the matter of education. Yet Wisconsin had nothing on Texas in the matter of soil or climate. It had nothing on Texas in the matter of natural resources."

Wisconsin did have, however, a marvelous thrifty and intelligent population and they have made the Badger state one of the richest of the union."

"Texas came into the union before Iowa came. Iowa is strictly an agricultural state, but her entire area is far under what Texas can boast in the way of first-class agricultural land alone. Iowa's taxable wealth is greater than that of Texas. The acre production of Iowa's farms is far greater than that of Texas. The per capita production of the Iowa farmer is far greater than the per capita production of the Texas farmer. Iowa is ahead of Texas in public education."

"It has been the individual in Iowa, as in California, Wisconsin and Nebraska, who has achieved wonders there. It is the individual in Texas, not nature, that has made Texas backward."

"One reason why Texas has been backward is that it has not always exhibited a kindly interest in outside capital. Another reason is we have had too much political strife and not enough intelligent co-operation among the citizens. Another reason is that we have fallen woefully short in our support of public education. We have never conformed our school curricula to the needs of the population and we have never realized the vital importance to our welfare and progress of scientific education."

"Mr. Ousley declared in his speech that agriculture is the science of sciences. The general attitude of our people toward agriculture has been that it is a form of drudgery fit only for the attention of the uneducated and the poor."

The present agricultural population in Texas ought to be producing products aggregating in value $2,000,000,000 a year. They are producing but a fraction of it. We are permitting our best potential capital—the land—to return to us annually, but the most meager increment and in the case of multiplied millions of acres nothing at all.

"What Mr. Ousley says about the backwardness of Texas is not pleasing, but it is the truth."

Women of Denmark win the ballot in the new constitution that has just been signed by King Christian, following its passage by the parliament. It now seems assured that Denmark will not go to war unless the issue is decided by the war lords instead of the masses of the electorate.

Central Texas has been specially favored by the weather man. We have had splendid weather for the harvesting of the grain crop when some other sections were visited by heavy rains, and the Waco gas supply is still on while the washouts have cut off the connection with Fort Worth and Dallas.

John Land of Victoria has gone to Temple to become secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. He is generally regarded as a live wire and working with and for a live city he ought to be able to get results, as we are confident he will.

A Roumanian general says the war will be ended in three months if his country enters the game. Well it begins to look like it will take the Roumanians and all the other Balkan people and possibly a few others, too, to put the Germans out of commission.

American money did not influence the Italian alienists who have found that young Porter Charlton, who murdered his wife while on a honeymoon in that country, is perfectly sane.

Rockdale will now diversify in more ways than one. Pay oil has been struck near there at a depth of 840 feet.

UNJUST REPROOF.

Mr. Jangle (irritably): Apparently you make no use whatever of the household hints I give you from day to day.

Mrs. Jangle: Wring as usual. James! Why, the last batch I sent to the Efficient Home Monthly netted me three dollars and fifty cents!

There is a unique spot in New York City, it is a ticket exchange booth at the Polo Grounds and it bears the inscription: "NO MONEY TAKEN HERE." It is understood to be the only place of its kind in New York.

JOHNNY'S TRIALS.

Get out sidewalk'd be covered With the 'rhythmic' I've done; Bet I've writ a million answers Since the time I first begun.

Allus lots and lots more comin'. Oh, the work I gotta do! Wonder why in thunderation This old work ain't never through!

Wonder if there's many others Adds up just the same as me? I jest guess and keep on guessin'. Hopin' one and one makes three.

Wonder, if I keep on learnin'. I'll be just the stupid fool Teacher seems to like to call me When he keeps me after school?

Wonder, in that place called Heaven. If they give you sums to do? Any place'd seem 'most Heaven Where a feller's work was through!

STUDIED FROM LIFE.

"Thanks," said the tragedian, setting down his glass, and absently pocketing my change which lay upon the bar between us. "Many thanks for your good opinion. I always study from Nature—from Nature, sir. In my acting you see reflected Nature herself."

"Try this cigar," said an admirer of Nature, reverently. "Now where did you study that expression of intense surprise that you assume in the second act?"

"From Nature, sir—from Nature. To secure that expression I asked an intimate personal friend to lend me five dollars. He refused. This caused me no surprise. I tried several more. Finally I struck one who was willing to oblige me; and, as he handed me the bill, I studied in a glass the expression of my own face. I saw there surprise, but it was not what I wanted. It was allied with suspicion that the bill might be a bad one. I was in despair."

"Well?" said the other, breathlessly. "Then an idea struck me. I resolved upon a desperate course. I returned the five dollars to my friend the next day, and on his astounded countenance I saw the expression I was in search of. Make it very light this time."

Of the tailor it might be said that if it takes nine of him to make a man it needs only one to break a man.

WHY?

I wonder why I never get an answer to my "ad"? I haven't had one single one—it really is too bad. Without a girl I can't go out, but still must stay indoors. To cook and sweep and do besides all of the other chores. I don't believe that servant girls read newspapers at all; For six times I've inserted this—I yet have one to call:

WANTED—A girl to do housework in small family. Must not be good-looking. Liberal wages. MRS. NEWBRIDGE, 210 X Ave. And why is it Jack laughs at this and says: "I'll tell you flat, Whirlid Wants work wonders, but they'll bring no girl to answer that!"

OR DEAD ONES.

Bustler.—How's that suburban cemetery scheme of yours doing?

Hustler.—First-class! All I want now is to get a few live men in it.

A CHANGE.

Starveling.—We've got a French cook at our boarding house.

Dumpling.—Notice any difference.

Starveling.—Yes, the hash is served as soup.

WHAT HE MISSED.

Drummer.—Could I show you a few goods, Mr. Rosenbaum?

Rosenbaum.—Py heavens! You missed a pig order py nod geddin' here a liddle sooner. I shust dis miss-ute failed!

CRUM IS VICTIM OF NAVIGATORS' BATS

FOURTEEN HITS OFF SAN ANTONIO PITCHER GIVES WACO 9 TO 1 WIN.

HOMERS BY CRICH AND FRED

Coming with Malmquist's Three-Bagger in One Inning, Net Three Runs.

Taking up their bludgeons where they left off Saturday, after allowing them a rest over Sunday, the Navigators continued their hammering frenzy which bled fair to put them all in the class and the club at the top of the league. Pitcher Crum was the victim yesterday and the San Antonio Braves were slaughtered, that batting average might increase, to the tune of 9 to 1.

There didn't seem to be anything wrong with Crum, it was rather that all was right with the Braves. The Braves have had a varied assortment of stuff, and a fast ball that broke like a curve, but it availed him nothing.

Eddie Donahue pitched one of his regular games for Waco, allowing San Antonio to hit, yes, but keeping the safeties from running in from the left in the third, when three of them assembled for the only San Antonio run. Donahue also had support, the left-handed jam up sort that should put that old confidence stuff in any finger. And Eddie was there with the belief that he could do it. It showed in his every movement. Still that's a habit of his, and a pretty good habit for a fellow with the class possessed by Eddie.

Not only did Crum not look bad, but there was really nothing particularly and-totally about any of the Navigators. The best of clubs will look clouded against a 14 hit proposition, still it was the class against them, and not their own shortcomings that sent them down to the one-sided score. Hardy's methodical scoring machine ground out its efforts with the same mercilessness that characterized their late season's work of 1914, and which bids fair to be the factor that will make even the romping Pirates tremble soon on their lofty perch of 40 won and 19 lost.

Nave Use Heads.

And the Skippers didn't play the rock-breaking sort of game all the time either. Not by simply "gettin' a fellow on and knockin' him in" did they take the contest, but in the third when San Antonio made its score and threatened to make it two, they teamed up, four of them, and pulled off as neat a piece of defense as you would care to see. They greatly desired to score from second on Harper's hit, which already had put O'Dell across. The hit was to left field. Harper started toward second on Crichley's peg to Donalds near the plate. By nicely timing the play Donalds held Burch at third, then Malmquist who put Harper in a chase, always driving him back toward the farthest base from home—first and second—then the runner out, setting the side.

Home runs by Crichley and Wohlleben with a three-bagger by Malmquist, switched in between in the fifth took a lot of the wind out of the sails of the visiting crew.

Catcher Reilly was struck on the thumb with a foul tip from the bat of Knaupp in the second. A physician pronounced the bone broken. Walters replaced Reilly behind the bat.

In the second inning for Waco Wohlleben drew a pass, Conwell sacrificed. Walters drove out to center field, scoring Wohlleben. Donalds grounded out, advancing Walters to third. Tanner dropped. Texas leaguer to center out to Tullos.

Braves Make One Run.

In the third San Antonio made its only run. O'Dell hit through short. Burch singled to center. Crichley sacrificed nicely. Baggan fanned. Harper hit through short, scoring O'Dell. Waco made a double play with two men out. Malmquist doubled to right field. Wohlleben doubled to center field, scoring Malmquist. Conwell grounded out in the fifth. Crichley sent the ball over the left field fence. James grounded out. Malmquist tripled to left. Wohlleben put one over the right field fence, scoring Malmquist ahead of him.

In the seventh Crichley walked. James doubled to center field. Wohlleben took the relay from Harper, who had relieved Love in the sixth, but the Braves shortstop pegged high to the plate and Crichley continued on in with a run. Malmquist grounded out. Wohlleben hit through second, scoring James. Grubb, who replaced Conwell in the sixth, doubled to center field, putting Wohlleben on third. Walters scored. Wohlleben with a sacrifice fly. Harper. Donalds fied out. The score:

Middle Texas League Now Has Four Clubs

Temple, June 7.—At a meeting held here today of club owners of the Middle Texas Baseball league Schulenberg and Taylor were dropped from membership and the league reduced to a four-club affair with Bartlett, Belton, Brenham and Temple as members.

Schulenberg was the first club to show signs of distress and practically quit in Temple last week. No other town being found available in which to place the team, reduction was decided upon and Taylor dropped out. A new schedule is being prepared to fit new conditions.

HIPODROME.

"The College Widow."

George Ade's comedy, "The College Widow," a five part motion picture produced by Barry O'Neill, with his all star Lubin company, with Ethel Clayton, Charles Brandt, George Soule Spencer, Joseph Kaufman and others, presented on the Vitaphone-Lubin-Selig-Bessanay program at the Hippodrome today, is a football story woven around the belle of the college who because of the fact that the widow captures the heart of Bolton, the crack halfback of the west, with the result that he plays with her team, instead of going to the rival, as intended by his millionaire father, Geo. Soule Spencer is shown as the half-back. Ethel Clayton fits snugly into the role of the college widow, and she gives us her usual satisfactory interpretation. Rosetta Brice is the lovelorn waitress in the college lunch room.

Some of the best scenes are the pretty campus views shown from time to time; the hotel, which is burned, giving the players the chance to instill pathos between the many comedy lines; was a large building that was especially built at the direction of O'Neill.

Barry O'Neill, director of "The College Widow" is one of the leading producers of the day. Since his engagement with the Lubin studio, he has been responsible for the masterpieces released under the Bell brand. Previous productions include the Charles Klein play, "The Lion and the Mouse" and "The Third Degree." Other pictures are "The Wolf," "The Gamblers," and "The Daughters of Men." One of the most notable of his successes was "When the Earth Trembled." The scenes in the picture were of a city supposedly razed by a flood. In this wonderful picture the interiors of four different houses were constructed for what is called break-aways. O'Neill was the architect. The structures were built of wooden bricks, and the rooms plastered and papered, and fitted with electric lamps, chandeliers and handsome furniture. All to tumble in at the cue and become a ruin in five minutes. Over thirty carpenters, builders and other constructors worked for five weeks to build the break-aways and three thousand dollars of property was wrecked by Barry O'Neill pulling a string. Such is the detail that the able director demands for his productions, but he gets the results and it pays.

Viewing O'Neill's ability as a director the Lubin company always provides him with a talented company. Ethel Clayton, who is at present his leading lady, is doubtless one of the most famous players of the silent drama and a score of others are not only tried and true but offer the best efforts of their ability to their much respected director.

ROTARY CLUB ELECTS SEVERAL NEW MEMBERS

JOHN F. WRIGHT IS APPOINTED DELEGATE TO AD MEN'S CONVENTION IN CHICAGO.

"Philosophy of Rotary" Will Be Discussed at Future Meetings.

Added emphasis will be given to the things for which the Rotary club stands at the future meetings of the club. To accomplish this end, President B. C. Nettles yesterday appointed a committee on "The Philosophy of Rotary," which is charged with the duty of preparing a program on some phase of Rotarian philosophy for the fourth meeting in each month. The committee, consisting of Dr. E. E. Ingram, Dr. J. L. Keeler and Frank E. Burkhalter, will select some topic for that meeting and assign a competent speaker to handle it. This feature to take the place of the special program of entertainment which is followed in many of the clubs.

John F. Wright, treasurer of the club, was appointed by President Nettles to represent the club at the annual convention of the Associated Ad Clubs of the World in Chicago the latter part of this month. The announcement of Mr. Wright's selection was made by applause and he accepted the appointment with pleasure. Delegation will leave Fort Worth on a special all-Texas train, June 17.

Several new members were elected at yesterday's meeting, the number being marked by the public schools; Dero Wood, haberdasher; J. T. Bopner, superintendent of the insurance department of the grand lodge, Knights of Pythias; H. L. Davis of the Walker Shoe company; J. B. Duncan, city electrician, assistant auditor for William Cameron and company, the last named being an assistant representative of the company.

Professor Cobb and Mr. Bonner were present as guests and made impromptu speeches in advance of their election. Professor Cobb announcing his willingness to come to Waco and his willingness to be of whatever service he could to the city in other ways, than as superintendent of the school, and Mr. Bonner telling of the manner in which East Texans--he having come here recently from Tyler--make good after coming west. Other impromptu addresses were made by President I. E. Gates of Wayland college, Plainview, who was reared in McLennan county and who is visiting the home of his brother-in-law, John Reed, and by W. P. Ryser of Marlin and Eugene Kyser of Rosebud, who were the guests for the day of J. Lee Davis and V. V. Damon.

One of the most attractive programs that has been recently given at the club was that of yesterday. Miss Louise Lawson contributed piano solo, Miss Martha Guleke of Baylor sang "A Lassie," responding to the demand for an encore with "My Little Waco Maid" by Prof. J. M. Evans of Baylor, and Misses Stella Wolters and Edith Lake of Baylor played a violin duet and piano accompaniment by Miss Hazel Parnell, also of Baylor. Miss Lawson furnished the piano accompaniment for Miss Guleke. All of the numbers were applauded to the extent that the young women were compelled to respond to the applause and upon the motion of Sol Hirschberg the performers were given a special vote of thanks. The musical numbers were provided for by a special committee consisting of Dr. Carl Lovelace and Landron E. Lueders.

J. J. South officiated as toastmaster yesterday, while next Monday will find W. L. Geer toastmaster. W. V. Crawford the regular speaker and Sheriff S. S. Fleming and Sol Hirschberg as members of the special program committee.

Waco Dental Society Will Meet Tonight

The Waco Dental Society will meet at 8:30 o'clock tonight in the offices of Dr. R. L. Shaw, 1206-7 Amicable building. Dr. S. M. Myers will speak on "Some Practical Points." A large attendance is expected.

Original Will of T. K. Lankford Stolen, So Copy Is Filed

T. H. Lankford, who was shot and killed in a Waco moving picture theatre, May 22, left only $100 to each of his two children by his first wife and $1 each of his two children by his second wife, according to the copy of his will filed yesterday in the county court. The remainder of his estate, valued at about $25,000, is left to his mother, Armetta Lankford.

J. A. Lankford, a brother, who filed an application to be appointed temporary administrator, states in the application that he went to the office of Williams & Williams to get the will on May 25, just three days after his brother's death. He took the will home with him and that night he declares that his house was burglarized and the coat, containing the will, stolen.

The will was dated April 17, 1915, and is witnessed by Lud Williams and May Walte.

DEATHS

Dr. George B. Graves Dies. Dr. George B. Graves of Valentine, 35 years old, son-in-law of Judge and Mrs. W. H. Jenkins of this city, died yesterday morning at 5:30 o'clock after a long illness with tuberculosis. He was a native of Virginia and was reared and educated there but when his health became poor he moved to Valentine and had apparently recovered but overwork caused his health to fall again and from this he never recuperated.

He was married to Miss Sarah Jenkins five years ago this month and is survived by her and one son, George B. Jr., four years old. His other relatives still reside in Virginia. When he became critically ill, Mrs. Jenkins of this city went to his bedside and was present when he passed away. Judge Jenkins, accompanied by his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Daniel, left at noon yesterday for San Antonio where they will meet Mrs. Jenkins and Mrs. Graves as they are accompanying the remains to this city.

The body will arrive this afternoon at 5 o'clock over the Katy Limited and the funeral will be held from the station, followed by interment in Oakwood cemetery. Rev. J. M. Dawson will officiate.

CAMP IS PITCHED FOR Y. M. C. A. BOYS

MAIN PARTY WILL START FOR BOSQUE FROM ASSOCIATION BUILDING TODAY.

Cooks Will Have Dinner Ready When Crowd Arrives--Outing Lasts Nine Days.

Pioneers for the boys' summer camping expedition of the Young Men's Christian association left early yesterday morning, going in automobiles to the camp site chosen on the Bosque, near Valley Mills. The party was accompanied by two wagons loaded with tents, equipment and supplies. This party will pitch the camp and erect a diving pier ready for the larger party which leaves the association building at 10:30 this morning. Two expert cooks have been employed and will have a big dinner waiting hot for the campers when they arrive about noon today.

The party which left yesterday morning was led by E. W. Conway, physical director of the association, and Ed E. Brown, and was composed of the following boys: Davis Hill, Albert Pickett, Charles Slaughter, Ben Lee Boynton, Horace Lewis, Johnny Whitworth, Vandiver Brown and Perry Taylor. The trip was made in three automobiles, belonging to John Fisher, J. B. Smith and Ed E. Brown.

The party which will leave this morning will be composed of Will Virett, Herbert Wallace, Francis Taylor, Baker Hoskins Jr., Tom Harrison, John Harrison, Joseph Jaworsky, Hannibal Jaworsky, Cecil Coffelt, Emanuel Hawtof, Max Strange, L. Smyth, Marion Smyth, G. N. Behout Jr., Greg McCormick, Kenneth Aynesworth, G. Moore, Vaughan Wilson, Sterling McCall, Clarence Durgart, David King, Carlton Holloway, Ernest Mayr, Roy Huff, A. J. Flowers, boys' secretary of the association, and J. A. Harrison will be in charge of the party.

EAST WACO DRAINAGE PLANS WORKED OUT

ROBERT J. POTTS, CIVIL ENGINEER, ESTIMATES EXPENSE WOULD AMOUNT TO $73,702.83.

CLAIMS SYSTEM FEASIBLE

Principal Task Consists of Building Ditches and Laterals to Carry Off the Water.

By the expenditure of $73,702.83, Robert J. Potts, civil engineer, estimates that a drainage system can be worked out that will protect East Waco and the adjacent territory from danger of flood damage from the Brazos river. Mr. Potts submitted his report on the survey and design of a drainage system for drainage district No. 1 of McLennan county, which comprises East Waco and adjacent territory, to the county commissioners' court yesterday. The drainage plan consists of numerous intricate details of construction and has been in the process of completion since Dec. 1, 1914, although its finish has been materially interfered with because of the continued rainy weather of the winter and spring. The court carefully considered every portion of the plan, both from a commercial and a financial standpoint, and after a most minute investigation, placed their stamp of approval upon it. The proposition is now before the people affected. The court is ready to call the election whenever the citizens desire.

This district was organized under the provisions of the "drainage district" law of Texas. As this law provides for the drainage work to be done in a community only, and makes no provision for the construction of protective levees, no section of the Brazos levee can be effected at this time, although it may be accomplished later under an "improvement district" law.

The geographical location of East Waco demands that an adequate drainage system be put into operation if the wealth of the district is to be preserved, according to those interested. During the rainy seasons, winter and spring, practically the whole East Side is deluged with torrents of water which stand for weeks and months, acting as a menace to the health of the community and entailing severe property losses. Business houses located in close proximity to the river are forced to abandon their trade and employ exceptional means to save their stock. Many private homes and residences are swept from their moorings because of the immense water pressure on the foundations, which are unable to withstand the unusual force. In the flood season, East Waco resembles a great lake dotted with pleasure seeking houseboats.

There is almost no drainage for the entire area beyond the end of Elm street, extending from the Cotton Belt tracks to the Central Texas tracks, and including the county farm and a considerable distance along both the Dallas road and the Corsicana road. The fields and districts surrounding Dry Pond are converted into a miniature ocean after an unusually heavy downpour, and the waters lie here for an indefinite period, soon becoming stagnant, and a breeding place for disease. An outsider, taking an entirely unprejudiced view of the situation, must admit that summary action is imperative. Mr. Potts says:

"The greater part of the district is comparatively flat. As we go back from the river, it rises in a series of terraces and land between these terraces is almost level. In most places, therefore, it is difficult to get enough slope in the ditches, while at other points the ditches, if built with the ground slope, would be so steep that they would wash badly. Ditches have been given all the slope possible in the flat places and concrete chutes or drops have been provided for the places that are too steep.

The Marlin branch is the only large natural outlet from the entire district. At present it is badly overloaded, being forced to carry almost all the water from the entire district and, of course, with unsatisfactory results. The Elm street sewer has been even more heavily overloaded. All the water from East Waco contiguous to and north of Elm street; all the water from the country west of the interurban and east of the Texas Central; and a part of the water from the Keokuk tract west of the Texas Central, find its way into the upper part of East Waco with no outlet worthy of note, except the Elm street storm sewer.

"It is obvious, therefore, that the solution of the problem requires:

"1. That as little water as possible be allowed to accumulate in East Waco.

"2. That as much water as possible be diverted from the tributaries of the Marlin branch and carried into the river, above the city.

"3. That the Marlin branch and its tributaries be enlarged sufficiently to care for all water not otherwise provided for.

"4. That sufficient lateral ditches be constructed in the northern portion of the district to properly drain the farms and carry the water to the river in such manner as to cause no damage to the lower parts of the district.

"It is also worthy of mention that the existing levee in East Waco is not disturbed, as none of the ditches passes through it.

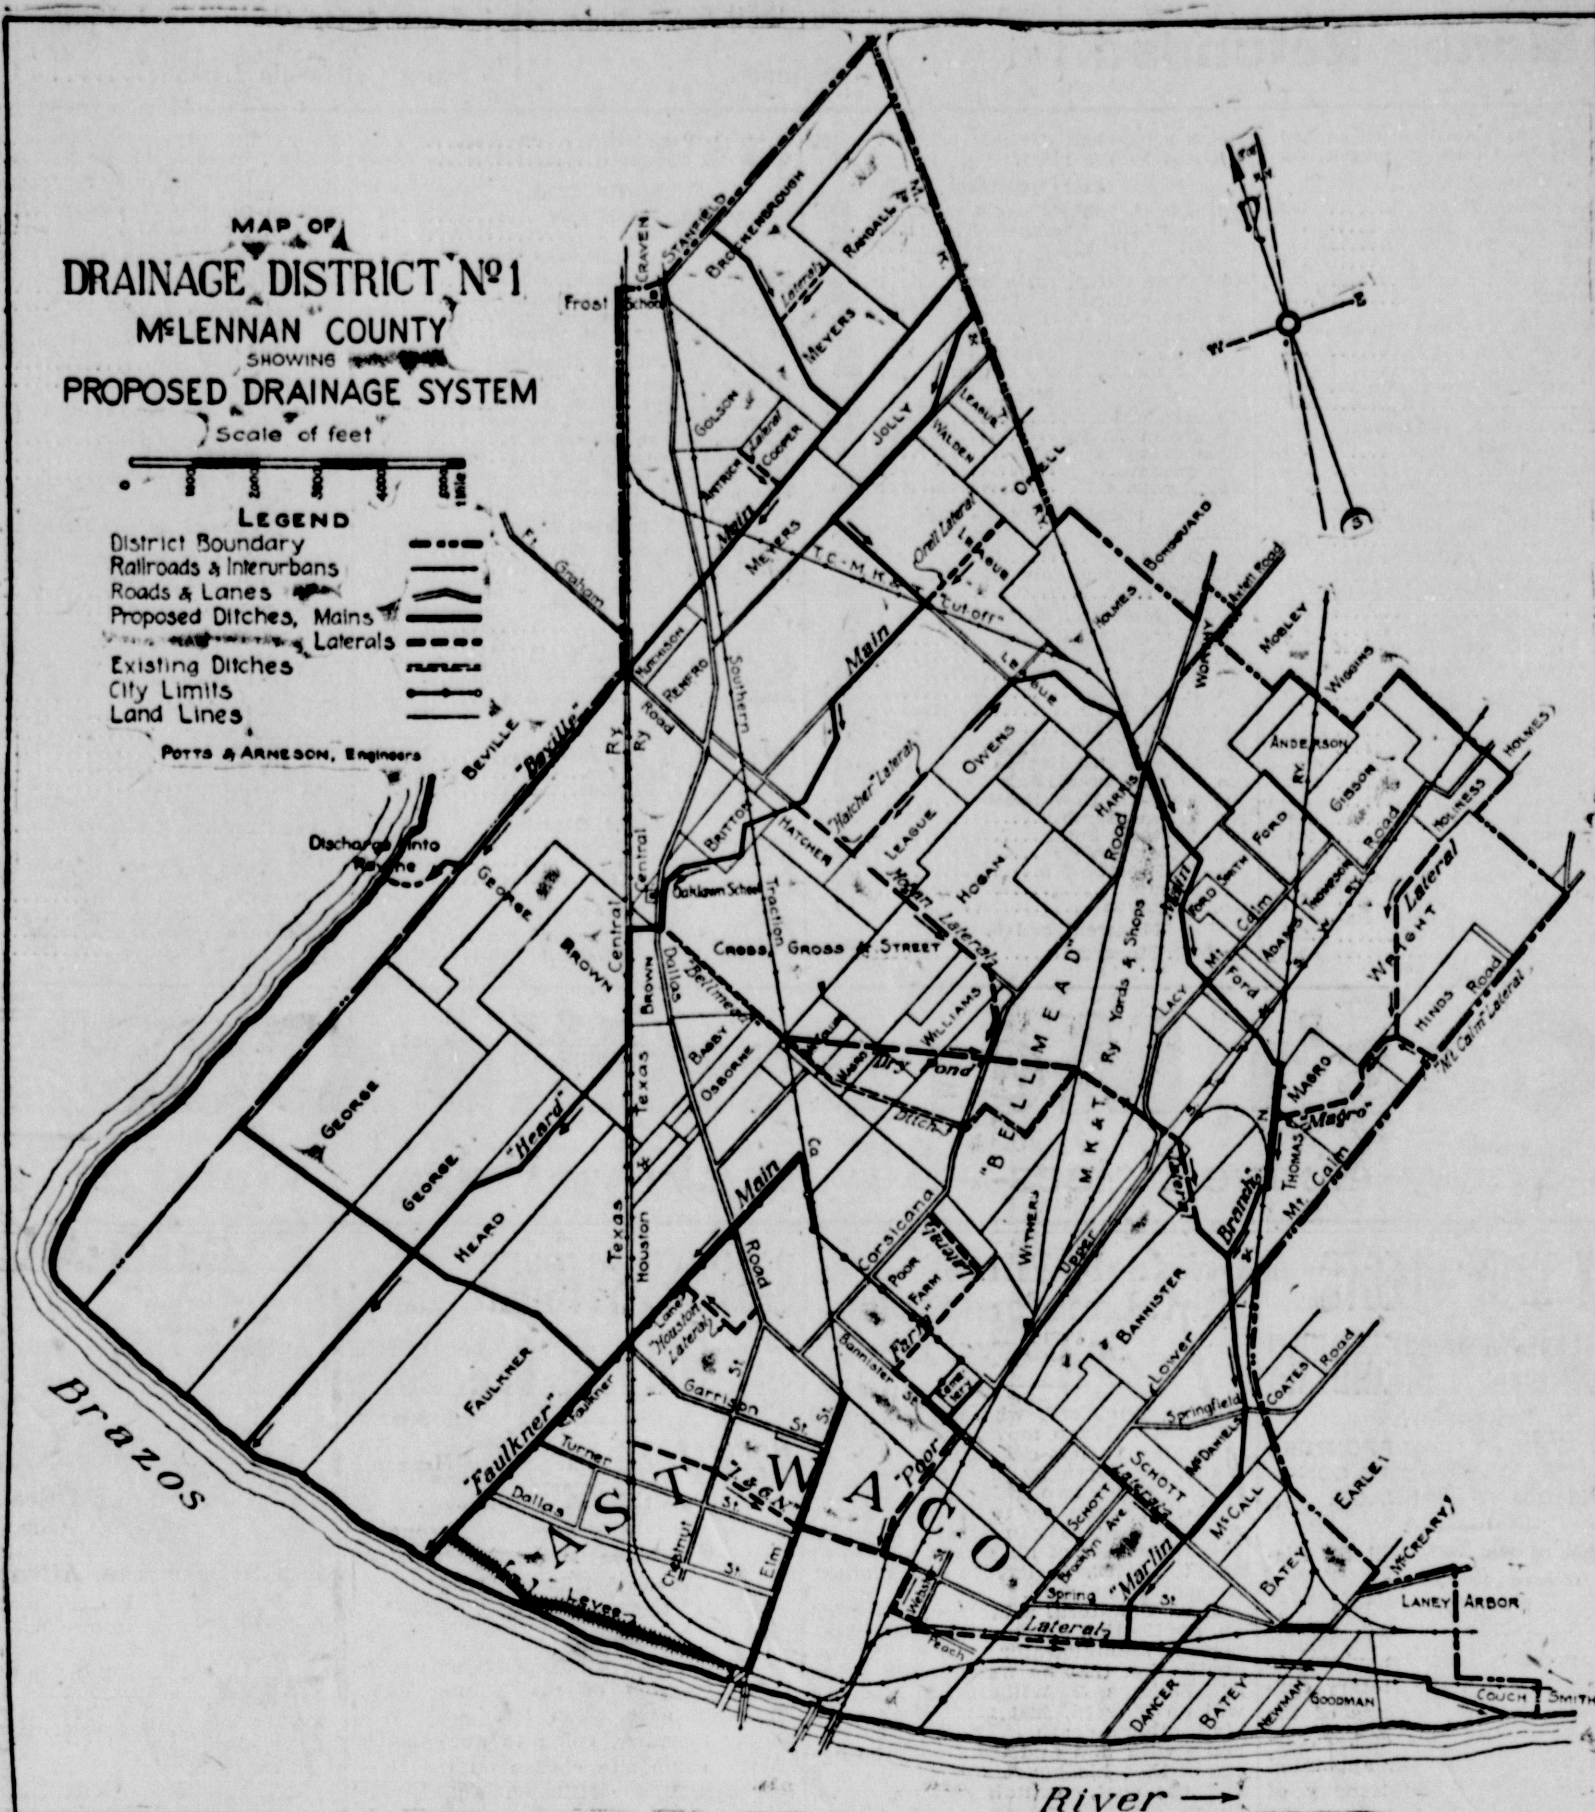

"The total area of the district is approximately 7,600 acres, of which about 1,100 acres are inside the city limits of Waco and about 900 acres are in the immediately contiguous suburban additions. There are also included 4.3 miles of interurban track and 26.6 miles of railroad, not counting the trackage in the terminal yards of Waco.

"An approximate estimate of valuations kindly furnished by Mr. Reed, county assessor, put the real estate value at $2,000,000. When an accurate rendition is made this will almost certainly show $2,500,000 of real estate and the personal property will easily bring the total up to $3,000,000.

"In order that the location, size and purpose of each ditch may be understood by all, the following detailed explanation of each ditch is included in this report. In reading these descriptions, reference should be made to the reduced cut of map included herein. The court is also referred to the blue prints showing profiles and sections of each ditch.

Marlin Branch Main.—Substantially this present, well known channel, with slight changes to straighten or otherwise improve same. After leaving the Marlin farm, east of the Cotton Belt yards, this ditch twice crosses the International and Great Northern railroad, crosses the Corsicana road at the point where this road intersects the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad, and has its origin on the line between Owens' farm and tract owned by the League estate.

General Conditions.—Below the junction with the Dry Pond lateral there is always a small flow that runs channel. This is due to the artesian well at Belle Mead. In some places the present ditch has sufficient width, but lacks depth; at others it has sufficient depth, but lacks width. Allowance has been deducted for present channel, except where wet excavation will be encountered in the new construction.

I. & G. N. Lateral.—Route—Empties into the Marlin branch just after it passes under the I. & G. N. track west of Springfield street; follows west side of I. & G. N. to Webster street; crosses I. & G. N., goes two blocks east, and turning north crosses both M. K. & T. and Cotton Belt railroads; continues up Springfield street to Elm at point where small ditch through Turner field flows into east end of Elm street sewer; follows this ditch to Chestnut street; then out Rose (Richardson) street to point near Clement grain elevator.

Purpose.—This is considered one of the most valuable and important ditches in the system. Its purpose is to catch and dispose of all water from the upper part of East Waco, thus relieving the Elm street sewer from its present overloaded condition and preventing flooded conditions in the business districts of East Waco. It will furnish badly needed drainage to a large district near the grain elevator that is now flooded by ever a small rain. It will also give proper outlet to a large volume of water that runs along the H. & T. C. railroad yards, all around the compress and between the H. & T. C. and I. & G. N. railroads south of town.

General Conditions.—Wet excavation will likely be encountered on the upper portion of this ditch. There will be also some heavy work in crossing the M. K. & T. and Cotton Belt railroads. The remainder is easy work, but there will be some excess earth to dispose of where the ditch runs along the streets.

Poor Farm Lateral.—Route—Empties into the I. & G. N. lateral just after it passes under the Cotton Belt track, follows alley by Cotton Belt track to a point near Greenwood cemetery, turns north, then east, and has its origin on the Corsicana road at the north corner of the county farm.

Purpose.—This ditch will relieve the bad condition around the county farm and along the Corsicana road and at the south end of the M. K. & T. yards. It should also get some water from the district north of the Corsicana road and east of the interurban. All this area is now very poorly drained. What little drainage it has leads into Dry Pond. It is very important that we should keep out of Dry Pond all the water that can possibly be disposed of otherwise. It is, therefore, seen that this poor farm lateral is a highly desirable improvement.

General Conditions.—The only difficulty in constructing this ditch will be encountered on the alley along the Cotton Belt track. Some additional right-of-way will be necessary here and several one and two-room houses will have to be moved back. There will also be some excess earth to dispose of along the route of this ditch.

Schott Lateral.—Route—This ditch flows into the Marlin branch at the point where it crosses the old Marlin road and extends northeast along that lane to the second turn in the Springfield road beyond the oil mill.

Purpose.—To furnish drainage for waterlogged land on both sides of the Springfield road and adjacent to the Cotton Belt tracks.

A fairly good ditch extends most of the way at present. It must be cut deeper near the top of the hill in order to relieve the ponded water near the turn of the Springfield road.

Dry Pond Lateral.—Route—Beginning at a point on the Marlin branch in the Banister field, this ditch runs through the extreme east end of the Cotton Belt yards and through the center of the M. K. & T. yards, where it passes through a double concrete culvert 800 feet long. Beyond this culvert the proposed ditch follows a straight course almost due west to the point where the present Belle Mead ditch passes under the interurban. At this point it will receive all the water from the country beyond, thus relieving the present inadequate Belle Mead ditch and leaving the latter to carry only what water it catches between this point and the M. K. & T. culvert. The present ditch along the end of Oaklawn addition is sufficient until we reach the Dallas road. Here this ditch is to be filled completely, and all water from beyond this point diverted into the Heard main, as will be explained later.

Purpose.—The primary object of this ditch is to make the Dry Pond dry. This is perhaps the worst flooded area in the district. We have cut off as much water as possible from coming into this district. It remains for the suggested ditches to carry the remainder.

Belle Mead Lateral.—This refers to the present ditch from the M. K. & T. culvert across Dry Pond to the interurban. Its chief fault lies in the fact that it was laid out to fit the sub-division, instead of satisfying the needs of drainage. It is now in a bad state of repair, and we have included in our estimate an amount for cleaning and repair work. Under the proposed system of ditches, this lateral will be of comparatively small importance, but will carry some water from along the Corsicana road and from the area east of the interurban. All water is diverted to the new ditch at the point where it intersects the interurban.

Hogan Lateral.—This is a small lateral leading off from the Dry Pond lateral at its intersection with the Corsicana road. It follows a natural drainage channel up to the Hogan lane and then turns to the north up this line. It furnishes drainage for the Hogan, League and McGee tracts and for a portion of the Oaklawn tract.

Magro Lateral.—Starting from a point on the Marlin branch main 1,000 feet south of the intersection of the I. & G. N. and the Cotton Belt railroads, this ditch passes through the Magro, Hinds and Wright farms, and has its source at the south corner of the Hollins Camp Grounds.

A natural drainage channel now runs along this route, and some ditching has been done. It is proposed to improve this drainage by enlarging the channel and laying it to proper grade. The work is simple, light and inexpensive.

Mount Calm Lateral.—This ditch leads off from the Magro lateral in the Hinds farm, runs over to the lower Mount Calm road and continues up this road to the mouth of the lane coming in from the south, between Thompson and White farms.

Its principal purpose is to relieve drainage conditions along the road and to properly care for the rather large amount of water that comes down the lane from the hills to the south and damages the road and the farms to the north of it.

Faulkner Main.—Route: This is a main or outfall ditch, and flows into the river just above the end of the present levee. It then follows the Faulkner line across the Texas Central and the H. & T. C. and continues across the Dallas road to its origin at the interurban right of way on Davis street.

This ditch performs a very important part in protecting East Waco from flood water and also in relieving an exceedingly bad drainage condition in the territory on both sides of the Dallas road. What little drainage this area now has leads right down the H. & T. C. tracks into East Waco. In addition to this all the water for several miles up the H. & T. C. and Texas Central railroads finally finds its way into East Waco. This has been the chief cause of the floods in the lower residence and business sections. All this water will now be intercepted and lead directly to the river.

Rouston Lateral.—Route: This short ditch leads off from the Faulkner main at Houston street. It follows Houston street two blocks and then turns east to the Dallas road just north of the intersection of Chestnut street.

Drainage conditions on both sides of the Dallas road at this point are wretched. Large ponds form at every rain, and the one on the west side of the Dallas road spreads over Chestnut street for nearly a block.

The Houston lateral will relieve all this and put this water quickly into the Faulkner main. Sufficient depth is provided to afford good drainage to all this land and a box culvert is now being constructed under the Dallas road to bring out the water from the east side.

Heard Main.—Route: This main has its outfall at the point where the common boundary of the Heard and George farms intersect the river. It extends up this line to a point about 1,500 feet north of the Heard house, at which point it passes into the southwest end of the Potts-Moore gravel pit. Leaving the gravel pit at the north line of the Heard farm it crosses a corner of the Brown farm, passes under the Texas Central railroad, continues up between the Texas Central and the Houston and Texas Central tracks to a point opposite the southwest corner of Oaklawn sub-division, where it passes under the H. & T. C. and crosses the upper end of the Brown farm and the Dallas road. At this point it intercepts the ditch from above which at the present time carries into Dry Pond all the water for a distance of two and one-half miles up the Dallas road and from the large area east of the Dallas road and west of the M. K. & T. The present arrangement at this point which forces all this area to discharge into Dry Pond which is already a very difficult place to drain, is certainly as bad as it could be made.

After leaving this point the Heard main follows the present natural drainage channel through the Oaklawn, Britton, Hatcher and League tracts to the M. K. & T. C. cut off track. After passing under this track the main turns sharply to the left until the south line of the Meyers farm is reached; then continues east along the lane until the natural drainage channel leads it through the Jolly farm to a point on the M. K. & T. near the south end of Powers siding.

Hatcher Lateral.—This small ditch leads off from the Heard main on the north side of the Hatcher farm, and extends a short distance along the south line of the League tract. It furnishes needed drainage to adjacent land.

Orell Lateral.—This lateral leads off from the Heard main just beyond the M. K. & T. cut off and extends up to the Orell farm.

Beville Main.—Route: This main has its outfall in one of the pronounced ravines that break away into the river through the Beville farm. It then follows the Beville lane, or Dripping Springs road, until it intersects the Texas Central and Houston and Texas Central railroads at the Fort Graham road; continues in the same direction until it has crossed the Dallas road and the interurban, and finally follows a well-defined natural drainage channel north through the Meyers and Brokenbrough farms.

This ditch has the same general purpose as the Heard main; that is, to intercept the water from the upper extremity of the district and carry it to the river the shortest route. In addition to preventing the accumulation of water along the railroads, the interurban, and the Dallas road, much of the land adjacent to this ditch will be greatly improved by careful drainage.

Cooper Lateral.—This short ditch lies on the common boundary of the Cooper and Antich farms, and affords drainage for these farms. It discharges into the Beville main.

Randall Lateral.—This lateral leads off from the Beville main at Meyers' north line and

MARKET REPORT

COTTON

New York, June 7.—While somewhat irregular the cotton market made a generally steady showing today with the close steady at a net advance of 10 to 10 points.

Firm cables and reports of unsettled weather in the south over Sunday doubtless accounted for an opening advance of 10 to 10 points and active months sold 13 to 14 points net higher right after the call on scattered covering and local support. There was no general or aggressive demand, however, but enough trading was encountered around 9:30 for October contracts, or within 20 points of the best level reached on the last rally, to check the upward movement. Readings of some 8 to 10 points followed but offerings showed no more tendency to increase on a scale down than buying orders had on the early advance and the market turned steady during the afternoon with prices working back to nearly the previous high point. Trading was very quiet later and the close was 10 to 10 points off from the best. Private cables reported a small steady market in Liverpool and local traders were inclined to attribute the firmer tone in that market to the larger amount of cotton forwarded from the Liverpool stock last week and a better demand in Manchester. There were reports from West Texas that the rains were beneficial but complaints were received from Oklahoma that owing to recent rains a further reduction in acreage was probable and the eastern belt forecast for unsettled weather with showers and lower temperatures was not considered favorable.

Reports from New England said that there were well made with new material and were practically out of the market, but southern spots were generally unchanged, exports for the day 282, making 7,328 so far this season. Port receipts 3660. United States port 988,388.

New Orleans, June 7.—Quiet strength featured the cotton market today. In the early trading prices went 12 to 15 points over Saturday's last quotations. After this spurt came a period of dullness, with more or less profit taking in the long side, but in the afternoon the market firmed up again and the close was at a net gain of 11 to 14 points. At the lowest of the session prices were at a rise of 7 to 11 points. Better cables than due encouraged the buying and much of the steadiness later was caused by the spot account. The marking up of local spot quotations by 6 points stimulated the advance in the afternoon. Offerings were slender at all times and the market quickly responded to even small buying.

Weather news was more favorable than otherwise and was generally considered to be against prices, but it aroused no selling power of consequence.

Galveston, June 7.—Middling 9.15; receipts 1151, sales 235, stock 224,643.

Liverpool, June 7.—Spot cotton steady. Good middling 5.59.

Low middling 5.30. Sales 6000; for speculation export 500; receipts 3000.

FUTURES.

Liverpool, June 7.—Futures quiet.

SOLDIERS ON BORDER WANT BOOKS TO READ

PEOPLE OF COUNTRY INVITED
TO HELP IN GATHERING 20,000
VOLUMES IMMEDIATELY.

LIGHT FICTION IS DESIRED

Morning News and Other Papers Collecting Libraries for Various Army Posts.

A few months ago, Major-General William Harding Carter, in command of the Hawaiian department of the United States army, wrote to some friends in the United States, telling them of the need of a library for the soldiers stationed in the barracks in Honolulu.

"Here in Honolulu," his letter said, "the soldier boys have but one place of amusement—a sort of combination dance hall and saloon. There are only a few of them, however, who really take to the kind of amusement the place affords. Our boys want something more substantial, something really worth while. Up to the present it has been impossible for us to give them what they want. We have been thinking, however, that if we could establish here at the post a library of good books, to which the soldiers could have access during their leisure hours, we would be doing not only the post, but the boys themselves a great service. Hence, I am taking the liberty to inquire whether it would be possible for some of the papers to assist me in gathering together books suitable for the soldiers to read. What we want is light fiction, stories, books on subjects of military interest, etc.—nothing too heavy, however. I would like to get as many of these books as possible and make the library as inclusive and worth-while as I can."

Through the efforts of papers in Chicago, Indianapolis and Milwaukee, where General Carter is well known, more than 10,000 volumes were collected for the soldier boys at the Honolulu post.

Other Libraries Needed.
Since that time it has developed that libraries are needed quite as badly at other posts and an effort is now being made to secure, by popular donation, books for these posts also. Brigadier-General Hugh L. Scott, chief of staff of the army, has given his most cordial endorsement to the patriotic campaign started by General Carter and urges the especial importance of collecting books for the garrisons on the Mexican border.

Brigadier-General James Parker of the First cavalry brigade, stationed at Fort Sam Houston, says that such libraries would be a great boon at Fort Brown, Brownsville, Tex., commanded by Col. A. P. Blockson, Third cavalry, containing now four troops of cavalry and one battery of artillery—between 400 and 500 men; Fort Ringgold, Rio Grande, Tex., commanded by Major Jesse Mc. I. Carter, Third cavalry, with a garrison of two troops of cavalry, and Fort Duncan, Eagle Pass, Tex., commanded by Col. Henry C. Hodges Jr., Seventeenth infantry, with a garrison of a regiment of infantry, a troop of cavalry and a battery of artillery—a total of about 1,000 men.

Brigadier-General George Bell Jr., commanding the second division, writes his word of appreciation from Texas City. Col. Robert L. Bullard of the Twenty-sixth infantry, in camp at Texas city, says: "Such a library would certainly do our men great good and be greatly appreciated by them and by their officers."

Officers Favor Plan.
Brigadier-General John J. Pershing, in command of the Eighth brigade, headquarters at Fort Bliss, Tex., feels that a library of the sort proposed would keep many men off the streets and away from evil associations and at the same time provide a means of mental recreation and education.

Brigadier-General R. K. Evans of the Second brigade, at Laredo; Major Jesse J. Mc. I. Carter of the Third cavalry, at Rio Grande; Col. H. C. Hodges of the Seventeenth infantry, at Eagle Pass; Col. A. P. Blockson of the Third cavalry, at Brownsville, and Brigadier-General T. F. Davis, commanding the Sixth brigade at Douglas, Ariz.; Col. Charles M. O'Connor of the Second cavalry brigade at Douglas, all give hearty support to the plan and urge the need of their men for good reading matter.

Col. Millard F. Waltz of the Nineteenth infantry, commanding the Fifth brigade, headquarters at Galveston, says: "I am certain the library will do the service a vast amount of good, and give the soldiers many pleasant hours which might otherwise be spent in (as General Carter puts it) patronizing the cheap saloon and dance hall."

We appeal to the readers of the Morning News for books for the soldiers on the Mexican border. The type of books that are desired are light fiction, both novels and short stories, stories of travel and all other matter, excepting magazines, which would come under the classification of light literature.

All books should be sent to the Morning News prepaid. The campaign will continue for three weeks, when the books will be divided and sent to the posts mentioned above. Arrangements have been made whereby the books may be sent free of charge from the Morning News to the several posts.

Send to Morning News.
There is hardly a home that maintains a private library that has not half a dozen volumes of light reading which have been read by the members of the family and their friends and are really of no further use to any of them. These books, however, possess the highest value just at this time for the soldier boys serving under the United States flag.

Look through your book cases, your book shelves and the attic. See if you can't find one or two volumes of good literature that you can make your donation. It will take at least 20,000 volumes to supply adequately the army posts along the border and every volume is going to help swell the collection to that number.

The influence of the saloon and the cheap dance hall works a great deal of harm in and about army posts, as a rule, but a well established library for the soldiers is counted on to combat this influence successfully.

Do not delay. Send in your books to the Morning News at once. Remember the campaign will continue for only three weeks and in the brief space of time the desired 20,000 volumes must be collected by the newspapers who have taken up the work. The Morning News alone would like to forward the full number.

LARGEST PREMIUMS AT COTTON PALACE

DIRECTORS DECIDE TO GIVE MORE
IN LIVESTOCK THAN ANY FAIR
IN THE SOUTHWEST.

SUMMER RACES CONSIDERED

Work Will Begin at Once on Construction of Tracks and Commodious Grandstand.

Premiums in the different classes of livestock for the 1915 Cotton Palace will be the largest offered by any fair in the Southwest, marking the most important step toward putting into effect the recently declared policy of the directors to make the exposition of more appeal to the farmers. Last night at a meeting of the board of directors for this department were increased to a point making possible the addition of $2.50 to all first premiums on farm livestock. Under the new arrangement first premium in all classes will be $12.50, second $7.50 and third $5. First premiums in the same classes at the Dallas fair and the Oklahoma state fair are $10, the same as heretofore offered at the Cotton Palace. Appropriation for premiums in the agricultural department were doubled for 1915, county and community exhibits, farm collections and general products of field and farm being added to the classes upon which premiums will be offered this year.

Work will begin at once on constructing the grand stand and race track on the new ground available. Contract was signed last night with the Student Self-Government association of Baylor providing for three football games during the exposition this fall. Baylor will play the University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn., Nov. 8; Oklahoma A. & M., Nov. 13, and Daniel Baker college, Nov. 20. A first-class grand stand will be erected to serve for both the football games and the races. The football gridiron will be laid out inside the race track.

Summer races on the Cotton Palace grounds were favorably considered by the board last night. President Asher Sanger appointed L. Mikel, chairman of the grounds committee; J. J. Abernathy, chairman of the livestock committee; W. W. Pryor, chairman of the building committee, and Commissioners Forrest Goodman and E. F. Carroll as a special committee with power to contract with a syndicate of Waco men who were bringing the Texas Short Ship circuit to Waco this summer. This committee was also empowered to let contracts for building the grand stand and track, and for moving the barns back to the Dutton street line of the new grounds.

The directors also favored taking membership in the American Association of Fairs, formed for the purpose of providing automobile races for the lesser expositions of the country, and it is probable that automobile races will be added to the attractions of the 1915 Cotton Palace.

Plans for the publicity of the 1915 exposition were outlined by W. V. Crawford, chairman of that department. A six weeks' campaign of advertising is contemplated, which will embrace all methods of advertising. The country press will be covered by means of plate matter, being more convenient to the smaller papers. Display advertising will be placed through an advertising agency, with the exception of advertising in local papers, which will be handled by the department itself. The section will be thoroughly covered by posters and window hangers.

The building occupied last year by the dog show probably will be moved farther back into the exposition grounds, as a result of complaints made last year by residents near the park. In addition to the premiums given in the show last year, the directors last night voted to offer a premium of $50 to the professional bringer of the largest number of dogs from outside points.

The appointment of E. F. Carroll as a commissioner to succeed W. V. Crawford, who becomes a director, was ratified last night upon the request of President Sanger. Considerable progress is being made in the excavation for the new channel of Waco creek through the exposition grounds. Work on this began last week. Gravel from the new bed will be used in building walks on the new grounds.

Money to Buy Site for Dam Near Bryan Almost All Raised

Nearly all of the $1,050 needed to purchase the site for the lock and dam to be built near Bryan on the Brazos has been raised by Secretary E. F. Drake of the Chamber of Commerce and President J. J. Powers, J. M. Penland and H. M. Baine, who have assisted him. The first payment on the land, amounting to $200, has been made. Yesterday afternoon it was reported that only $25 was needed to make the second payment of $700 due yesterday. The third and final payment of $150 will not be due for some time.

Postmaster W. H. Hoffmann suffered a painful sprain of the ligaments of his left knee yesterday morning in the postoffice when a turn of the revolving chair in which he was sitting wrenched the limb. Mr. Hoffmann was carried to his home, 1513 Webster street, where he will probably be confined for several days as a result of the accident. Mr. Hoffmann at the time was sitting on the high revolving chair at the stamp window, where he had relieved the stamp clerk.
